Summary

I'm currently a student at CSUS (California State University of Sacramento). I will be studying for a bachelor's in Computer Science. I look forward to the task and challenges that I face both in School and Life. My current passion is developing software and creating small programs so I can further develop my skill in this field. I'm currently looking for internships for the coming 2022 summer. The current programming language I'm learning is Java!
